The broncolor Scoro is also a linguistic genius

The Swiss lighting specialist is offering a software update for its top model, the broncolor Scoro A.

The display and help texts now exist in ten languages. Besides German, English, French, Spanish, Italian, Swedish and Indonesian, the menu text as well as the help text of the LCD display are now available in Chinese, Korean and Japanese. Thereby broncolor covers the needs of photographers in some important markets.

The three new Asian language versions can be updated from today at your broncolor service station. The new language package is already installed in every Scoro power pack as from programme version 37.01.
